Today's Topics

- Benefits of shared analysis
- A Retention Model for Scholars Trust
- What data are libraries asked to submit?
- What data are libraries asked to exclude?
- Submitting Records
- Next Steps for the Data

Benefits of Shared Analysis

More Information
for Intentional
Decision-making

Identify overlap in titles for informed deselection and planned redundancy

Identify scarce titles to actively preserve and make informed local deselection decisions

Provide a high-level picture of local journal holdings → highlighting areas of subject strength

A Retention Model for Scholars Trust

- Identify out-of-scope materials (content or location)
- Number of copies to retain
- Community standard for “widely held”
- Community standard for “rare/unique”
- Completeness of holdings
- Scholars Trust | Rosemont title (PAPR)
- LC Class/Subject
- Publication start or end date
- JSTOR/Electronic

What Data are libraries asked to submit?

Print Serials Bib, Holding and Item Records for each OCLC holding symbol used by the library.

What are libraries asked to exclude?

- Non-serial records.
- Monographs - if encoded in the record.
- Monographic series - if encoded in the record.
- Newspapers - if encoded in the record.

What are libraries asked to exclude?

- Non-print format - if encoded in the record.
- Government documents - if encoded in the record.
- Any branch locations or collections which the library has identified as out-of-scope.

Exclude if:

- 008 position 23 (Form of Item) indicates non-print.
- Gov't Document. 008 position 28 is not equal to blank, u, or fill character (| or \) OR Bibliographic record contains MARC 074 or 086.

Submitting Records

Libraries will be asked to submit:

- A completed Collection Analysis Submission Form (.doc format), which includes contact information for the project, as well as descriptive information on the data in the records.
- Bib, holdings and item data, either merged or in separate files, in MARC format. If a library cannot provide a MARC extract a csv file may be acceptable.

An FTP account will be set-up to transfer files and login information will be provided.

Next Steps for the Data

Checks Report

An analysis of each libraries' submitted records, with a data integrity check against OCLC Worldcat.

- Records are identified for inclusion/exclusion from further analysis with an indicator for that decision.
- Provides opportunity to check cataloging accuracy for ongoing data integrity activities.
